2 Application Procedure

How to apply

The application form and application documents are located in the data room on the website (<https://ili.shyu.ac.kr>). After completing the application (including payment of the application fee), please prepare all required documents and submit them in person or by mail within the document submission period.

Selection method

Based on transcripts, academic plans, and other reference documents submitted by applicants, applicants are selected after comprehensively evaluating academic achievement, academic ability, suitability for major, major-related activities, and language skills.

Notes for Application

1. To complete your application, you must pay the application fee when applying for admission.

After the application deadline, the application fee is non-refundable. (Based on Article 42-3 (Admission Application Fee) of the Enforcement Decree of the Higher Education Act)

2. If there are any problems with the application form, insufficient attached documents, or loss of contact, you may be excluded from the selection process. Any disadvantages resulting from this will be entirely your responsibility, and no objections can be raised in the future.
3. The application fee is 100,000 won (KRW).
4. The 3rd round of selection is only available to those residing in Korea.

6 How to submit documents

Notes on submitting documents

1. All documents must be submitted during the document submission period and no additional documents may be submitted after the document submission period. (Except for graduates who have not yet received their graduation certificates and submit them before admission.)
2. Documents not written in Korean or English must be accompanied by a notarized English translation.
3. We will not notify you individually whether your documents have been received or not. If all documents are not submitted within the submission period, your application may be rejected due to insufficient qualifications.
4. All documents must be submitted in A4 size, and in particular, it is prohibited to arbitrarily cut passport copies to passport size and submit them.
5. The applicant's passport must be a passport with sufficient validity at the time of admission, and the applicant is responsible for any disadvantages such as visa delays due to passport changes (extensions), etc.

Key points about issuing notarized and consular certificates and apostille documents

1. All documents must be translated and notarized by the consulate of the country where the document was issued or the consulate of the Korean Embassy. Consular certifications or apostille documents from other countries are not recognized.
2. Documents that are not in Korean or English must be translated into English and notarized, and the original document must be notarized in the country where the document was issued.
3. Documents that are not specified as copies must be submitted as originals. If a document cannot be reissued or a copy is unavoidable, a notarized copy of the document must be submitted.
4. Please review notarized translations before submitting them. If your name, gender, etc. are spelled differently on official documents such as a passport due to a translator's mistake, this may also be grounds for disqualification.
5. If your name is different on the document, you must prove that you are the same person with a document issued by a government agency in your country of origin.

7 Note to applicants

Notes on submitting documents

1. If the information provided in the application is not true, the applicant is responsible for any disadvantages caused by errors or omissions.
2. If facts related to ineligibility for admission and falsification, forgery, or other irregularities in the submitted documents are confirmed, admission may be canceled even after admission.
3. Changes and cancellation of the application form and refund of the application fee are not possible after the application is completed, and the submitted documents will not be returned.
4. Applicants must provide an accurate email address and phone number where the university can contact them at the time of application, and are responsible for any disadvantages arising from failure to contact them (email, phone, etc.).
5. If your contact information changes during the test period and you do not report it to the university, you are solely responsible for any disadvantages that may occur due to loss of contact.
6. The scores and evaluation contents will not be disclosed.
7. Applicants who are found to have falsified documents, forged documents, submitted false certificates, etc. through a separate inquiry process, and those who are not qualified to apply, such as those who are not allowed to issue a visa by the immigration office, will be rejected, and even after admission is granted, admission will be canceled (if admission is canceled after the start of the course, tuition may not be fully refunded).

Notes for successful applicants

1. Registration Notes
 - A. Those who are admitted to the university must pay the enrollment fee to the designated bank within the designated enrollment period, and those who do not pay within the period will be deemed to have abandoned their enrollment.
